Baltimore, New York See Racial Violence

Boy Shot in Bronx;
Arizona White Church Welcomes Negro Cleric

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Racial violence in New York and Baltimore overshadowed peaceful integration steps taken Sunday by two widely separated churches.

A white teen-ager was wounded early today by a gunshot from a passing car near a Bronx diner which had been the scene of a racial disturbance earlier. The boy, Jack Cippolla, 16, of the Bronx, told police the gunman was a Negro. Cippolla suffered a flesh wound in the right cheek.

The diner is being picketed by white and Negro members of the Congress of Racial Equality. CORE is demanding that the diner chain, White Castle, hire more Negroes.

Early Sunday, some persons in a crowd of several thousand, mostly teen-agers, hurled rocks, eggs and tomatoes at the picket. Shortly before the shooting, police dispersed a crowd of several hundred white youths in the area. Baltimore police arrested more than 100 white and Negro integrationists—including 13 clergymen—at a privately owned amusement park in suburban Woodlawn while about 6,000 white patrons hurled catcalls and obscenities. The integrationists were charged with trespass.

Officers arrested four of the white hecklers and charged them with disorderly conduct.

This contrasted sharply with developments in Tucson, Ariz., and Richmond, Va. The Pueblo Gar-

Tax Relief Is Pushed By JFK Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon said today the Kennedy administration will continue to push for tax reduction, price stability and export promotion as its basic approach to the international balance of payments problem.

Dillon, in testimony before the congressional Joint Economic Committee, said, "The enactment of the tax program is central to our basic objective of achieving balance in our international accounts and maintaining confidence in the dollar."

He was lead-off witness in a congressional inquiry into the deficit in the U.S. balance of payments.

The committee has asked Dillon whether a tax cut would require "a tighter monetary policy" to prevent further deterioration in U.S. international accounts.

"To this, in my view, the answer is clearly no," Dillon said. "Under present circumstances, with our economy operating well below its capacity and with high the substantial tax cut we have recommended would not be inflationary."

"Consequently a tight policy designed to slow consumption and counter inflation would appear to be most inappropriate in the present setting."

Man Suffers Shotgun Wound In Williamsport Bar Shooting

Pickaway County Sheriff Walton W. Spangler today was continuing his investigation of a shooting Saturday night at a Williamsport bar in which a resident of the village was wounded.

John Housman was reported in "satisfactory" condition today in University Hospital, Columbus, following surgery. A blast from a shotgun struck him in the stomach.

Walter B. Hughes, working as bartender at Sally's Place in Williamsport, told the sheriff and deputies he shot Housman "in self defense." He said Housman had a Bowie knife with about an eight-inch blade drawn at the time of the shooting.

According to records at the sheriff's office, Housman had patronized the bar earlier in the day. He

NAACP Youths Planning New Aggressive Role

Meredith Is Labeled As 'Out of Step' in Civil Rights Movement

NEW YORK (AP) — Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said today NAACP youth groups have been "unshackled and will take a more aggressive role" in the organization's civil rights fight.

"Our 40,000-member youth corps will no longer be restrained or hampered by conservative policies of some local NAACP chapters," Wilkins said.

"They will receive direction from our national headquarters in New York and be free to plan and stage demonstrations under our existing constitution and directives."

Wilkins was interviewed by telephone from Charleston, S.C., where he had addressed an integration meeting Sunday night.

His comments on NAACP youth resulted from a bitter attack on the quality of the organization's youth leaders by James H. Meredith, the first known Negro to attend the University of Mississippi.

Meredith's criticism, made at the NAACP annual convention in Chicago last week, was answered with a vehemence which caused Meredith to admit "I wept my first tears since I was a child."

Meredith aroused the anger of the NAACP youth group by saying:

"Any one of you burr heads out there could be the owner of a large department store, president of a corporation, or even mayor of the city of Chicago. Only believe, all things are possible, if you only believe."

He also remarked on "the low

Another Plea Is Filed for Racial Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department's civil rights chief urged Congress today to enact legislation to abolish racial discrimination in places of public accommodation.

"It constitutes vitally needed legislation," Asst. Atty. Gen. Burke Marshall told the Senate Commerce Committee. "It would remedy what patently is an injustice and it would do so by the normal processes of law."

Marshall echoed the plea made last week by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy as the administration touched off its congressional campaign to establish a series of sweeping new civil rights laws.

Two House subcommittees also scheduled civil rights hearings today. One takes up the manpower retraining program and the other considers a proposal to deny federal aid to segregated schools.

Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze will appear before the House Judiciary Committee Wednesday when it reopens hearings on the President's omnibus even-put program.

Marshall's prepared testimony concerned only the proposal to open public facilities such as restaurants, stores, hotels and places of recreation to all, regardless of race.

This has been the most controversial point of the program, because it is based on the Constitution's interstate commerce clause.

Holiday Kill Sets Record

Both State, National Tolls Top Predictions

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Multiple - death highway accidents marred Ohio's long July 4 holiday weekend as three crashes — two Friday and one Sunday — snuffed out a dozen lives and pushed the toll beyond the 27 predicted by safety officials.

The Associated Press tabulation of accidental death began at 6 p.m. last Wednesday and ended at midnight Sunday.

At least 29 perished on the highways. Three drowned, including one in a boating accident, and six deaths were attributed to miscellaneous accidents for an overall toll of 38.

The nation's traffic deaths hit a record high for a four-day Independence Day holiday.

Traffic accidents cost the lives of 553 persons during the 102-hour holiday period extending from 6 p.m. (local time) Wednesday to midnight Sunday. The previous high toll for a four-day Fourth of July Holiday was 509, set in 1961.

Belated reports probably will boost the final figure. There was a heavy spurt in fatalities Sunday and Sunday night as millions of motorists jammed highways in the homeward rush.

The National Safety Council, in a pre-holiday statement, estimated 550-650 persons would die in traffic accidents during the long weekend.

"It has been a costly weekend in terms of accidental death and injury, breaking all records for a summer holiday weekend," said Howard Pyle, council president.

"The wicked part of it is that at least 70 per cent of the damage was done through avoidable situations: speeds to great for conditions, failure to yield right-of-way, violation of the centerline in the road, and drinking and driving."

The council's figures show that traffic deaths in the first five months this year have averaged 100 per day.

An Associated Press survey of a four-day non-holiday weekend showed 458 traffic deaths. The 102-hour period was from 6 p.m. Wednesday, June 19 to midnight Sunday, June 23.

There were several multiple fatality accidents during this year's holiday.

In addition to traffic deaths, 143 persons drowned and 41 others lost their lives in boating accidents.

Guessperts Insist Glenn Will Run

WASHINGTON (AP) — Is Astronaut John H. Glenn thinking about attempting a political orbit—perhaps in next year's race for the U.S. Senate?

Glenn, 41, replies to such speculation that he has no time for politics. A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration comments that political guesswork about Glenn sounds like a trial balloon.

But the speculation persists in Washington military circles, and some Ohio politicians say they wouldn't be surprised to see Glenn among the field seeking the seat of Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, which is up for grabs next year. Glenn is an Ohioan.

7 Die as Jet Crashes Camp

WILLOW GROVE, Pa. (AP) —

A pilotless Navy jet crashed on a baseball field Sunday, then careened in flames into a day camp bathroom, killing seven persons at a family picnic.

Four children were among the dead. The pilot of the jet bailed out safely a half mile away.

One man was killed as the plane, its wings ripped off when it ploughed through trees, hit the field during a sudden rainstorm. Bodies of the other victims were dug out of the leveled bathroom.

At least 17 of the 125 or more persons at the picnic were injured. Twelve were admitted to Abington Memorial Hospital, one in serious condition.

Killed were Jennie Klein, 36; her daughter, Sandra, 10, and her son, Harvey Klein, 4; Jeanne Arnold, 40, her daughter, Judy Arnold, 1; Emanuel Milton Fine, 47, and Caroline Hershfield, 10. All lived in Philadelphia.

Capt. John W. Butler, Bolling Springs, Pa., 30, a Marine Reserve pilot, was headed for a landing at Willow Grove Naval Air Station 18 miles north of Philadelphia, when something went wrong with the FJ Fury fighter.

Navy spokesmen said they didn't know what caused the malfunction, adding that it apparently occurred in the electrical system.

Capt. Albert Waldman, commander of the base, said, "There will be a big investigation. We will determine what happened."

The end of the airfield's landing strip is only 500 feet from the Green Hill Day Camp which the picnicers had rented for their annual reunion. They were members of either the "Roseman Cousins Club" or the "Weiner Family Circle," with parts of both groups related to each other.

Capt. Waldman said Butler is a member of the 51st Marine Fighter Squadron.

"As far as we know the pilot lost control of his plane and we don't know the reason why. There was nothing physically possible that the pilot could do to control the airplane so he just bailed out."

Butler, who is married, was in seclusion. His commanding officer Col. David M. Dancer, couldn't be reached for comment.

Butler apparently had steered his craft for what he believed was an unoccupied field. A clump of trees obscured the bathroom and adjoining two-story building.

New Law Readied To Aid Journalists

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill is expected to be introduced in the Senate this week to put the force of law behind the right claimed by newsmen to protect their confidential sources of information.

Charles gave his detective bodyguard the slip June 17 and ducked into the hotel bar for a drink.

Financial Deals Are Forbidden

Red Isle on Same List As North Korea, China

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States today froze all Cuban assets in this country, whether owned by the Fidel Castro government or Cuban individuals. At the same time, all unlicensed financial or commercial transactions with Cuba by Americans were forbidden.

In general, the orders put the Communist-dominated island country in the same class with Communist China and North Korea, but under more stringent rules than those applying to the Soviet bloc.

Funds that refugees manage to get out of the country are not affected by the freeze order, unless it is determined they actually are acting in behalf of the Castro government.

The new regulation, instituted by the Treasury at the request of Secretary of State Dean Rusk, became effective one minute after midnight this morning.

The action, the State Department said, was taken to "restrain the movement of funds from Cuba" in accordance with the July 3 resolution or the organization of American States urging member governments to counter Castro-type Communist subversion in the Western Hemisphere.

The controls as announced by the State Department will work three ways.

First the Treasury blocked all assets in the United States of Cuba or persons in Cuba, estimated to be in the neighborhood of $33 million.

Second, it prohibited Americans to engage in "unlicensed transfer" of U.S. dollars to or from Cuba.

Third, it prohibited all other unlicensed transactions with Cuba or Cuban nationals or transactions involving property in which there is a Cuban interest.

Cuban refugees in the United States or elsewhere in the free world will be regarded as "unbooked nationals" unless they are acting on behalf of the Cuban regime, the State Department said. It said that such refugees have to prove "serious hardship" if they want to send money to their immediate families in Cuba, however.

Officials in explaining the new regulation stressed that while it is a unilateral action, it is based on a decision of the hemispheric nation.

Promotion of Negroes in Dallas Post Office Causes Stir

WASHINGTON (AP) — A month ago, three college-educated Negroes won promotions in the Dallas, Tex., post office. What pushed them ahead—ability or the color of their skins?

The promotion of the three set off a tempest in Dallas and in Washington. Some critics cried discrimination against whites.

This Dallas controversy may be a harbinger of things to come, for tempests like it may brew again and again in the Negro struggle for better jobs and better conditions.

Rep. Bruce Alger, R-Tex., who represents Dallas, says the promotions there show that "in a direct appeal to racial prejudice and in an effort to submit to threats of violence, the administration has ordered that civil service procedures be ignored and promotions made strictly on the basis of race."

Clarence Mitchell, Washington representative of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, dismisses this argument. "The Dallas promotions," he says, "were just one of those things where the government is trying to correct an inequity."

Some postal unions contended that the most qualified of the three Negroes was promoted over 3 white postal workers higher on the Dallas promotion list.

Lee C. White, President Kennedy's assistant special counsel in charge of civil rights, says the promotions were made in accordance with all civil service commission requirements.

The Dallas story began in May 1961 when the Post Office Department inaugurated a "merit promotion plan." Before then, according to Richard J. Murphy, assistant postmaster general in charge of personnel, local postmasters could pretty much decide on their own just whom they would promote.

Under the present plan, workers qualified for promotion are put on a list in order of special point totals. These totals are based on (1) their score on an examination for prospective supervisors, (2) their years of service, and (3) a numerical evaluation given them by their two immediate supervisors.

Murphy says the list is not a strict qualification list: postmasters are not required to promote the top man when an opening comes.

When a list has less than 100 names on it, the postmaster may pick any man on the list. But, when a list has more than 100 names, the postmaster, unless he has permission from Washington, must try to pick someone from the top nine. The Dallas list had 400 names.

Last January, Postmaster General J. Edward Day called 600 postmasters to the University of Oklahoma for an unusual seminar.

Among the topics discussed was the post office's "program for progress"—a plan to end any discrimination against Negroes and other non-whites in post office hiring, training and promotion.

Under the plan, postmasters of large offices must make monthly reports on their progress. The aim is to report to President Kennedy next March that the post office has developed a comprehensive equal employment opportunity program.

In another aspect of the program, the post office announced a new policy of refusing to lease space in any building that has segregated facilities and of refusing to give a substation contract to any proprietor who runs a store with segregated facilities.

In addition to the University of Oklahoma seminar, 27 postmasters and four regional postal officials from the South have been called to Day's office in Washington since May 23. He has asked them to speed up their programs to end any possible discrimination.

Murphy says Day and other Washington officials did not instruct the Southern postmasters how to do this. The method, Murphy says, was left to the local officials.

During this campaign, Murphy says, Day discovered that the Dallas post office, unlike other offices in Texas, never had a Negro supervisor. Day wrote local officials in Dallas and asked them to look into the matter.

The regional headquarters recommended that the Dallas postmaster select Negroes for the next three openings. But, when the openings came, no Negro was among the top nine on the list.

Murphy says Postmaster W. B. Hudson asked Washington for permission to go outside the top nine. Permission was granted.

Three Negroes, Buford R. Tyler, Andrew J. Calloway and Herschel Gillins, were picked. The highest was No. 4 on the list.

Their comparative low position on the list, Murphy says, may be due to discrimination in the Dallas post office. Murphy also notes that Negroes usually have low seniority because jobs in the post office did not open to them until after World War II.

Murphy rejects all arguments that the department is practicing discrimination in reverse.

Two weeks ago, he says, the Post Office Department let a Southern regional office pick a white man as postmaster although a Negro was first on the promotion list there.

John W. Macy Jr., chairman of the Civil Service Commission, says that the post office, when it promoted the three Negroes, acted in accordance with its own merit promotion program and within the general guidelines of the Civil Service Commission.

NAACP Youths Planning New Aggressive Role

Meredith Is Labeled As 'Out of Step' in Civil Rights Movement

NEW YORK (AP) — Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said today NAACP youth groups have been "unshackled and will take a more aggressive role" in the organization's civil rights fight.

"Our 40,000-member youth corps will no longer be restrained or hampered by conservative policies of some local NAACP chapters," Wilkins said.

Holiday Kill Sets Record

Both State, National Tolls Top Predictions

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Multiple - death highway accidents marred Ohio's long July 4 holiday weekend as three crashes — two Friday and one Sunday — snuffed out a dozen lives and pushed the toll beyond the 27 predicted by safety officials.

The Associated Press tabulation of accidental death began at 6 p.m. last Wednesday and ended at midnight Sunday.

At least 29 perished on the highways. Three drowned, including one in a boating accident, and six deaths were attributed to miscellaneous accidents for an overall toll of 38.

The nation's traffic deaths hit a record high for a four-day Independence Day holiday.

Traffic accidents cost the lives of 553 persons during the 102-hour holiday period extending from 6 p.m. (local time) Wednesday to midnight Sunday. The previous high toll for a four-day Fourth of July holiday was 509, set in 1961.

Related reports probably will boost the final figure. There was a heavy spurt in fatalities Sunday and Sunday night as millions of motorists jammed highways in the homeward rush.

The National Safety Council, in a pre-holiday statement, estimated 550-650 persons would die in traffic accidents during the long weekend.

"It has been a costly weekend in terms of accidental death and injury, breaking all records for a summer holiday weekend," said Howard Pyle, council president.

"The wicked part of it is that at least 70 per cent of the damage was done through avoidable situations: speeds to great for conditions, failure to yield right-of-way, violation of the centerline in the road, and drinking and driving."

The council's figures show that traffic deaths in the first five months this year have averaged 100 per day.

An Associated Press survey of a four-day non-holiday weekend showed 458 traffic deaths. The 102-hour period was from 6 p.m. Wednesday, June 19 to midnight Sunday, June 23.

There were several multiple fatality accidents during this year's holiday.

In addition to traffic deaths, 143 persons drowned and 41 others lost their lives in boating accidents.

New Law Readied To Aid Journalists

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill is expected to be introduced in the Senate this week to put the weight of law behind the right claimed by newsmen to protect their confidential sources of information.

"We are all familiar with cases in which journalists have gone to jail rather than reveal their sources of information," said Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., in announcing the planned legislation.

The singer looked at the elaborate foot-long symbolic key and asked: "Oh, can I keep it?" Cook, flustered, replied: "No. It's the only one we've got."

He promised he would send a replica to Miss Merman.

Financial Deals Are Forbidden

Red Isle on Same List As North Korea, China

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States today froze all Cuban assets in this country, whether owned by the Fidel Castro government or Cuban individuals. At the same time, all unlicensed financial or commercial transactions with Cuba by Americans were forbidden.

In general, the orders put the Communist-dominated island country in the same class with Communist China and North Korea, but under more stringent rules than those applying to the Soviet bloc.

Funds that refugees manage to get out of the country are not affected by the freeze order, unless it is determined they actually are acting in behalf of the Castro government.

The new regulation, instituted by the Treasury at the request of Secretary of State Dean Rusk, became effective one minute after midnight this morning.

The action, the State Department said, was taken to "restrain the movement of funds from Cuba" in accordance with the July 3 resolution or the organization of American States urging member governments to counter Castro-type Communist subversion in the Western Hemisphere.

The controls as announced by the State Department will work three ways.

First the Treasury blocked all assets in the United States of Cuba or persons in Cuba, estimated to be in the neighborhood of $33 million.

Second, it prohibited Americans to engage in "unlicensed transfer" of U.S. dollars to or from Cuba.

Third, it prohibited all other unlicensed transactions with Cuba or Cuban nationals or transactions involving property in which there is a Cuban interest.

Cuban refugees in the United States or elsewhere in the free world will be regarded as "unbooked nationals" unless they are acting on behalf of the Cuban regime, the State Department said. It said that such refugees have to prove "serious hardship" if they want to send money to their immediate families in Cuba, however.

Officials in explaining the new regulation stressed that while it is a unilateral action, it is based on a decision of the hemispheric nation.

ATLANTA (AP) — Ethel Merman, arriving in Atlanta Sunday for a week's engagement, was met by Alderman Rodney Cook who presented her with the traditional key to the city.

The singer looked at the elaborate foot-long symbolic key and asked: "Oh, can I keep it?" Cook, flustered, replied: "No. It's the only one we've got."

Promotion of Negroes in Dallas Post Office Causes Stir

WASHINGTON (AP) — A month ago, three college-educated Negroes won promotions in the Dallas, Tex., post office. What pushed them ahead—ability or the color of their skins?

The promotion of the three set off a tempest in Dallas and in Washington. Some critics cried discrimination against whites.

This Dallas controversy may be a harbinger of things to come, for tempests like it may brew again and again in the Negro struggle for better jobs and better conditions.

Rep. Bruce Alger, R-Tex., who represents Dallas, says the promotions there show that "in a direct appeal to racial prejudice and in an effort to submit to threats of violence, the administration has ordered that civil service procedures be ignored and promotions made strictly on the basis of race."

Clarence Mitchell, Washington representative of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, dismisses this argument. "The Dallas promotions," he says, "were just one of those things where the government is trying to correct an inequity."

Some postal unions contended that the most qualified of the three Negroes was promoted over 3 white postal workers higher on the Dallas promotion list.

dy's assistant special counsel in charge of civil rights, says the promotions were made in accordance with all civil service commission requirements.

The Dallas story began in May 1961 when the Post Office Department inaugurated a "merit promotion plan." Before then, according to Richard J. Murphy, assistant postmaster general in charge of personnel, local postmasters could pretty much decide on their own just whom they would promote.

Under the present plan, workers qualified for promotion are put on a list in order of special point totals. These totals are based on (1) their score on an examination for prospective supervisors, (2) their years of service, and (3) a numerical evaluation given them by their two immediate supervisors.

Murphy says the list is not a strict qualification list; postmasters are not required to promote the top man when an opening comes.

When a list has less than 100 names on it, the postmaster may pick any man on the list. But, when a list has more than 100 names, the postmaster, unless he has permission from Washington, must try to pick someone from the top nine. The Dallas list had 400 names.

Last January, Postmaster General J. Edward Day called 600 postmasters to the University of Oklahoma for an unusual seminar.

Among the topics discussed was the post office's "program for progress"—a plan to end any discrimination against Negroes and other non-whites in post office hiring, training and promotion.

Under the plan, postmasters of large offices must make monthly reports on their progress. The aim is to report to President Kennedy next March that the post office has developed a comprehensive equal employment opportunity program.

In another aspect of the program, the post office announced a new policy of refusing to lease space in any building that has segregated facilities and of reducing to give a substation contract to any proprietor who runs a store with segregated facilities.

In addition to the University of Oklahoma seminar, 27 postmasters and four regional postal officials from the South have been called to Day's office in Washington since May 23. He has asked them to speed up their programs to end any possible discrimination.

Murphy says Day and other Washington officials did not instruct the Southern postmasters how to do this. The method, Murphy says, was left to the local officials.

During this campaign, Murphy says, Day discovered that the Dallas post office, unlike other offices in Texas, never had a Negro supervisor. Day wrote local officials in Dallas and asked them to look into the matter.

The regional headquarters recommended that the Dallas postmaster select Negroes for the next three openings. But, when the openings came, no Negro was among the top nine on the list.

Murphy says Postmaster W. B. Hudson asked Washington for permission to go outside the top nine. Permission was granted.

Three Negroes, Buford R. Tyler, Andrew J. Calloway and Herschel Gillins, were picked. The highest was No. 4 on the list.

Their comparative low position on the list, Murphy says, may be due to discrimination in the Dallas post office. Murphy also notes that Negroes usually have low seniority because jobs in the post office did not open to them until after World War II.

Murphy rejects all arguments that the department is practicing discrimination in reverse.

Two weeks ago, he says, the Post Office Department let a Southern regional office pick a white man as postmaster although a Negro was first on the promotion list there.

John W. Macy Jr., chairman of the Civil Service Commission, says that the post office, when it promoted the three Negroes, acted in accordance with its own merit promotion program and within the general guidelines of the Civil Service Commission.

dens Methodist Church at Tuesday welcomed its new pastor, the Rev. Wilbur Johnson. The minister is a Negro. The congregation is all-white. The pastor was surrounded by well-wishers after his sermon.

The Rev. Robert W. Hare, a white man, preached his first sermon as pastor of a Negro Presbyterian church in Richmond.

National Guard troops were ordered to pull out of Cambridge, Md., at noon today and Negro leaders said they would resume demonstrations against segregation after the troops departed.

Gov. J. Millard Taves sent the troops into the eastern shore city June 14 following repeated outbreaks of racial violence.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller announced he will ask the Governors Conference to endorse a resolution calling for state efforts to end racial discrimination in places of public accommodation, housing, education, transportation and employment.

Kentucky Gov. Bert Combs indicated he is narrowing the scope of his executive order against discrimination to include only public places of food, shelter, recreation, entertainment or amusement. As issued last month, the order indirectly would have banned racial bias in all business and professions licensed by the state.

Fresh Cement Causes Injury

Fresh cement was the cause of injury for a local man who received emergency aid at Berger Hospital during the weekend. A total of six persons were treated and released.

Walter Smith, 40, of 228 Barnes Ave., suffered chemical burns to both feet after stepping in fresh cement.

Veronica Locke, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Locke, 430 Sunnyview Drive, fell at the local swimming pool and injured her right arm.

Lester Good, 51, Route 1, Stoutsville, lacerated his scalp while combining wheat.

James Weaver, 2, of 385 E. V. Drive, fell and cut his lower lip.

Jane Wise, 14, of 226 E. Franklin St., fell at her home and injured her left arm.

David Bass, 16, of 607 S. Scioto St., suffered a laceration to his upper lip and tongue when he was struck by a ball bat at Ted Lewis Park.

Zanzibar Casts Vote

ZANZIBAR (AP)—Zanzibar voted today for a new government that will lead this spice island to independence if it convinces Britain it is politically stable.

Two persons were slightly injured in a two-car collision 2:52 p. m. yesterday at Main and Pickaway Sts.

One vehicle was operated by Halene Maney, 35, Delroy, O. A passenger, Bruce Maney, 6, suffered a bump on the head.

The other car was driven by Beverly Russell, 28, Route 1, Stoutsville. She received an abrasion on the left leg.

Mrs. Russell told Patrolman Jack Mills she had stopped for a light on Pickaway St., then proceeded on when the signal changed. Maney, traveling on Main St., said he thought the light was green for his direction.

Patrolman Mills said the front ends of both vehicles were extensively damaged.

U.S. Studies Its Next Move To Prevent Railroad Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz met today to map their next move in the strike-threatening railroad deadlock following union rejection of a settlement plan.

In advance of the White House session, all signs pointed toward an administration request to Congress for legislation to bar the nationwide rail walkout scheduled for Thursday.

The President had told both sides in the work rules dispute that if they couldn't work out an agreement he would ask for new laws to protect the public interest. He has run out of delaying procedures under existing law.

Although there was no firm word on what might be proposed, Wirtz noted only a few days ago that speculation had centered around compulsory arbitration and government seizure and operation of the railroads or some combination of the two.

When there was a railroad strike in 1946 — before the war had been officially ended—President Truman asked Congress for a law allowing him to draft railroad workers into the Army. The unions called off the strike at once.

In 1952 Truman, exasperated by union-management failure to agree in the steel industry, seized it to prevent a crippling strike. But the Supreme Court ruled he had no authority to do that.

The court said only Congress, not the president, has the power to seize property to avert a shutdown. The government seized the coal industry several times but under wartime powers.

Rail unions turned down Sunday a government settlement formula which had been accepted by the railroads.

The five operating unions vowed a bitter fight to defeat any legislation proposed in the controversy.

A railroad negotiator repeated that the new rules — eliminating thousands of jobs the railroads contend are unnecessary — will go into effect at 12:01 a. m. Thursday unless Congress passes legislation for one — hot compulsory arbitration to settle the dispute. The unions threaten to follow with an immediate strike.

The unions—which have contended the present job lineup is efficient and is necessary for the safe operation of the trains—rejected as "thinly disguised compulsory arbitration" the settlement formula proposed last week by Wirtz.

The Wirtz plan called for 20 days of negotiations to draft a temporary agreement on major issues, including implementation of a plan under which 40,000 firemen's jobs would be eliminated through attrition.

That was recommended by a presidential emergency board and backed by the Supreme Court.

If those talks failed, Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds was to draft settlement terms.

Then union-management boards were to study the controversy over a two-year period and make binding settlement recommendations. If they couldn't agree, neutral board members were to be named to make settlement recommendations.

mentations that would bind both sides.

The proposal was accepted "without reservations" by the railroads, Wirtz said. It was turned down by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, the Order of Railroad Conductors and Brakemen and the Switchmen's Union of North America.

The unions issued a statement denouncing the plan as compulsory arbitration and "a dangerous step toward totalitarianism."

The railroads contend the 40,000 firemen at the center of the controversy hold jobs that cost them $600 million a year in unnecessary wages.

The Association of American Railroads has estimated a strike would affect some 700,000 workers and tie up 217,000 miles of track.

Man and Wife Hospitalized After Fight

A domestic argument and ensuing fight during the weekend led to a local man and wife being admitted to the hospital with severe injuries.

Rushed to Berger Hospital at 7 p. m. Saturday was Frank Brown 208 Plum St. Police said he suffered a 5-inch cut on the left arm, apparently inflicted with a razor.

Also taken to Berger was his wife. Officers said she was treated for a possible broken left leg, possible broken left arm and apparent head and back injuries.

Both were transferred to University Hospital, Columbus, following emergency treatment here.

PATROLMEN Richard Blaney and Wesley Barton said Brown would not tell them what happened, other than that his wife cut him with a razor. They said Mrs. Brown was unable to talk.

The officers said the man and wife both appeared to be under the influence of intoxicants.

According to police, the verbal disagreement apparently started when Brown threatened to cut a plastic swimming pool where children were playing and splashing in water. The argument and fight followed.

Ohio Beauty Fuss Settled By Judge

CLEVELAND (AP)—Gloria McBride of Columbus may represent Ohio in the Miss Universe Contest at Miami later this week, a common pleas judge ruled today.

Miss McBride finished as runner-up to Miss Andrea Getzlaff of suburban Solon in the Miss Ohio Contest, but Miss Getzlaff later was disqualified because she was not 18 years old. Suit then was filed for Miss Getzlaff to prevent transfer of the beauty crown.

Judge Daniel H. Wasserman today dissolved a temporary restraining order against Miss Universe, Inc. of New York and Sydney Friedman, Cleveland theatrical agent who directed the Miss Ohio Contest.

Julian Cohen, Friedman's attorney, said the judge's decision leaves Miss McBride free to make the trip to Miami and compete for the Miss Universe title. Cohen said there also was an agreement approved by the judge that Miss Getzlaff will retain the Miss Ohio title and keep all the prizes won for that honor.

Still pending is a damage suit for $125,000 filed for Miss Getzlaff against Friedman and the New York concern. Her suit maintains she was misled because original applications required her to be 18 by Nov. 1, but that later she was told she had to be 18 by the time the Miss Universe judging started in Miami this week.

quality and ineffectiveness of our Negro youth leaders."

Wilkins commended Meredith as a "very independent and courageous person."

"It was unfortunate, however, that he made the mistake of attacking our youth."

"Mr. Meredith endured much to be admitted to the University of Mississippi, but he is now out of step and evidently misinformed about the civil rights fight," Wilkins said.

Wilkins emphasized that the role of adults in the NAACP is not being de-emphasized but is being revamped to allow the organization's youth to participate more actively in the integration fight.

The NAACP leader said he had found the leadership in the youth group "intelligent, articulate, militant and free from fear, especially fear of certain economic reprisals some adults might have."

"I first suggested our youth should be utilized in direct action under national office supervision at our 1960 annual convention in St. Paul," he added.

"They will be active, very active in both planning and executing their activities."

"Our youth leaders are our future adult leaders. It is only fitting that they play an active and militant role in this social struggle."

School Chief Given Freedom

WOODSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A perjury charge, filed against the president of the Monroe County District School Board in a grade transfer dispute, was dismissed today.

Judge John W. Gleason of Monroe County Court dismissed the charge against Emerson Smith, board president, for lack of evidence.

Some parents are protesting the board's transfer of the fifth, sixth and seventh grades from Lewisville School to Wayne School. They have obtained a court injunction to halt the transfer, and demanded—and got—the resignation of Dr. Dewey Pierce, executive head of the schools.

The perjury charge against Smith stemmed from the injunction hearing.

'Prudent Man' Bill Labeled Imprudent

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes, terming the so-called "prudent man" bill "imprudent," has sent the measure, disapproved and unsigned, to the Senate clerk.

The governor's veto over the weekend was the second in the current legislative session.

The bill, if enacted, would have doubled the proportion of assets of a trust which a trustee or guardian could invest in corporation stocks, investment trust shares and similar securities. These have not been regarded as suitable for trusts without specific authorization from the person establishing the trust.

The measure was backed by the Ohio Bankers Association. It passed the Senate 2-2 and the House 8-28.

dens Methodist Church at Tucsson welcomed its new pastor, the Rev. Wilbur Johnson. The minister is a Negro. The congregation is all-white. The pastor was surrounded by well-wishers after his sermon.

The Rev. Robert W. Hare, a white man, preached his first sermon as pastor of a Negro Presbyterian church in Richmond.

National Guard troops were ordered to pull out of Cambridge,
Md., at noon today and Negro leaders said they would resume demonstrations against segregation
after the troops departed.

Gov. J. Millard Taves sent the troops into the eastern shore city
June 14 following repeated outbreaks of racial violence.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller announced he will ask the Governors Conference to endorse a resolution calling for state efforts to end racial discrimination in places of public accommodation, housing, education, transportation and employment.

Kentucky Gov. Bert Combs indicated he is narrowing the scope of his executive order against discrimination to include only public places of food, shelter, recreation, entertainment or amusement. As issued last month, the order indirectly would have banned racial bias in all business and professions licensed by the state.

Fresh Cement Causes Injury

Fresh cement was the cause of injury for a local man who received emergency aid at Berger Hospital during the weekend. A total of six persons were treated and released.

Walter Smith, 40, of 228 Barnes Ave., suffered chemical burns to both feet after stepping in fresh cement.

Veronica Locke, 13, daughter of
Mr. and Mrs. James Locke, 430
Sunnyview Drive, fell at the local swimming pool and injured her right arm.

Lester Good, 51, Route 1, Stouts-ville, lacerated his scalp while combining wheat.

James Weaver, 2, of 385 E. Va.
Drive, fell and cut his lower lip.

Jane Wise, 14, of 226 E. Franklin
St., fell at her home and injured her left arm.

David Bass, 16, of 607 S. Scioto
St., suffered a laceration to his upper lip and tongue when he was struck by a ball bat at Ted Lewis Park.

Grass Fire Checked

Circleville Firemen were called at 7:45 a. m. today to check a grass fire in the vicinity of Dun-more Road. No loss was reported.

Surging Ahead

Some economists are tentatively revising prediction of what's ahead on their front. They have been loath to make more than extremely guarded comment on the prospects for next year—for one reason, because it will be a "presidential election" year.

But they are now beginning to predict that next year's business volume—which means employment and prosperity generally—will eclipse that of this year, and some of the more bold say the increase will be substantial. They regard the current base as so well anchored that

Millions on Vacation

Millions of people are about to go on vacation trips. There is a strenuous day when it is necessary to decide how the most vital things in four closets can be crammed into one suitcase. The trippers go over their lists again and again to be sure nothing is missing, and usually before they get 20 miles from home they remember something important left behind.

Arrangements are made to have the cat and dog fed. The householder tries doors and windows four or five times to see if they are locked.

Some folk don't know how to enjoy a vacation. If the motel is unpleasant, if the

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—The biggest stock market of them all has taken its full share of lumps in the last year but today finds at least one reason to crow. The National Security Traders association says leading stocks on the over-the-counter market have been recovering recently at a faster rate than the popular averages of stocks listed on the exchanges.

It was the OTC market that saw some of the most spectacular rises in the speculative stock sphere of 1961—and some of the most disastrous (and sometime scandalous) dips in the first half of 1962. The greatest climbs and dizziest drops often came in fledgling issues, the kind that aren't listed on the nation's stock exchanges but are tried out over the counter.

It was the OTC that drew much fire of the Securities & Exchange

Commission when it asked Congress last month for new powers over stock trading, the persons who sell them, the companies involved and especially the new issues.

And in the last half of 1962, when the stock exchanges were the lows reached in June 1962, trading over the counter lagged, and so did prices of its stocks on average.

Trading is still slow over the counter, compared with the pickup on the exchanges, where volume is sizably larger than a year ago.

While the OTC market is too large for full records of trading volume, some leading firms estimate sales to be about 20 per cent below last year.

But the National Quotation Bureau, which reports on stocks actively traded over the counter, says its industrial stock

It takes a philosophic outlook to be a good vacationist. Men who are perturbed because the wife wants to see the shop windows when they long for the brooks need a lesson in adjustment. Those who fret because two rainy days keep them in a hotel, need to discover the pleasure of human contacts.

With the right philosophy, a vacation should bring you home with a keen desire to dig into your job, a feeling that home is the best place on earth, and a memory of scenes that will cheer you on many dark days.

average rose 14.11 per cent in the first half of 1963. The Dow-Jones industrial index gained 8.4 per cent in the six months, and Standard & Poor's 500 listed stock average rose 9.93 per cent.

The bureau says its OTC price averages "like those for listed stocks are based primarily on representative blue chip issues and are therefore comparable to leading listed stock averages."

Stocks listed on the exchanges are also sold over the counter, but most of the business is in unlisted issues estimated as high as 50,000. The exchanges are called auction markets because all buy and sell orders are received there and eventually matched by the brokers.

OTC is a negotiated market because sales are made by negotiation between broker-dealers, largely by private telephone, and often in different parts of the country. Some 4,600 of them belong to the National Association of Securities Dealers, which policies the market under SEC supervision. About 5,500 individuals whose profession is trading in the OTC market belong to it industry group, the National Security Traders Association.

The new rules asked by the SEC would compel all securities firms to belong to NASD or some other self-policing unit, tighten requirements for entering the business, and give SEC stricter controls over the concerns and their employees.

The SEC also wants some 3,600 industrial and utility companies, banks and insurance companies, whose unlisted stock are traded over the counter (those firms with 750 or more stockholders) to follow the same financial disclosure, proxy and insider-trading rules that apply to companies listed on exchanges.

Banks and insurance companies particularly are objecting to this, preferring federal and state agencies already regulating them.

Exchange officials feel that the new rules would lead many now unlisted industrial and utility firms to apply for listing—reducing by that much the size of the big OTC market.

But the multitude of companies too small in assets, with too few stockholders or too low in trading volume, to meet exchange requirements probably will continue to be a mainstay of the OTC market, whatever Congress may do about stricter federal policing.

And Wall Street will watch the course of prices and volume over the counter as one sign of the return of the little fellow to stock buying or of his burnt-finger dallying on the sidelines.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

JIMMY DURANTE recalls the night his father first saw him acting behind the footlights. Jimmy rushed offstage to ask his father, standing in the wings, "Well, Pop, how'd ya like my work? The father, whose name, incidentally, was Bartolomeo Durante, answered cautiously, "Lissen, boy, let's not get in an argument."

At the wedding reception of a town beauty and the champion of the local golf club, the bride created a mild sensation recently when she appeared suddenly at the top of the stairs and threw the groom's set of new matched clubs into the outstretched arms of the guests below. At last reports, the groom hadn't gotten them back either!

Reluctantly, Mrs. Miller allowed her friend, Mrs. Jones, to take her to a new doctor in town. While the two ladies were in the waiting room, a man who was ahead of them got a sudden cramp in his leg, and when his name was called by the nurse, he limped badly as he crossed into the doctor's inner office.

A few minutes later he emerged briskly and sailed out of the front door in fine fettle. "You see?" gloated Mrs. Jones. "Didn't I tell you he was the best doctor in this part of the country?"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

The importance of DDT was first realized about twenty years ago, when it was described as one of the great contributions of science to the health and welfare of man.

Raging epidemics of typhus and malaria were brought under control by the persistent spraying of entire communities with this spectacular but complex hydrocarbon chemical. Instantly, disease-bearing mosquitoes, flies, ticks, rodents and birds were soon created and distributed for use in the preservation of a variety of fruit and vegetable crops. Because the pests were controlled, there was increased productivity.

Pesticides have saved millions of dollars in grain that would have been destroyed by invasions of grasshoppers, green bugs, fruit worms and brown rot.

But along with the advantages of pesticides have come some significant disadvantages. Birds, plant, and insects that were hardy harmful, were destroyed by the chemical onslaught which they could not withstand.

The opposing camps were severely divided. There were those who favored the use of insecticides and those who feared it. Members of both camps were unwilling to yield on the advisability or inadvisability of the use of pesticides.

The American people were spared an unnecessary burden of fear. As soon as insecticides were recognized as a real threat to health, all the health protection agencies mobilized their forces and went into action.

A Presidential science committee has been formed to evaluate the total picture of insect control. It will direct the study of man's tolerance to various concentrations of chemicals used in any program of insect or rodent control.

Thus man's newest addition to his stockpile of fear, one that could have threatened his own happiness brings him hope, rather than anxiety.

Adult life, if it is to bring happiness, is intimately interwoven with the ability to face problems, make decisions and live by them. The ability to correct a wrong decision is a mark of emotional maturity. Fear of facing problems and of making decisions is perhaps the greatest single factor in reducing productivity in all areas of life.

If fear could be measured in terms of productivity and dollars lost we would be astounded.

The real cost of fear lies in the constancy of its waste.

The man who has his appendix removed returns to his job and resumes his normal productive role in society. The fear-invalid is different. He is unproductive when he is not working and less productive than he might be when he is working.

His fear destroys his potential. It does not allow him to focus on his role in life. Therefore he finds himself in a constant state of emotional unrest which he then transmits to those around him.

The huge cost of fear can probably be measured in millions of dollars. Unfortunately, the cost in happiness has no such obvious evaluation.

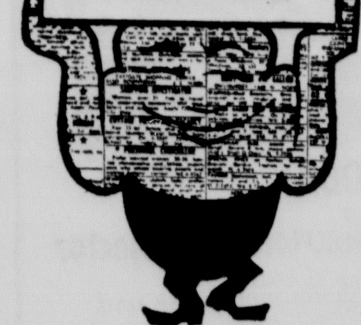

There is no yardstick to show the effect of fear on our happiness. Perhaps that is why we do not respect the potency of fear. But we can see its effect on our capacity to enjoy our lives.

The cost of fear can be diminished and reduced to an insignificant minimum when our fears are exposed and discussed frankly and openly.

Post-Holiday Efforts Lag

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Few people get much work done the day before a holiday. But on the day after a holiday practically no work at all is done in the average business office.

It is just a long eight-hour coffee break as the sunburned, mosquito-bitten survivors gather around and tell each other tall stories of what happened to them.

You wouldn't think it possible so many strange things could happen to so small a group of people on a single holiday in a civilized country.

"I was just lying there reading a book by Franz Kafka," says the homely young secretary. "When I saw this fellow struggling in the surf. So I swam out and pulled him ashore, and when I bent down to give him mouth-to-mouth resuscitation he reached up, took my hand, and asked me for a date every night next week. And guess what—he's the son of a wealthy lawyer."

The lazy office boy limps in with a bandaged ankle, and explains: "Twisted it sliding into home plate with the winning run in the last of the ninth. Guess I'll be a little slow in distributing the mail for the next few weeks."

"When I looked through my binoculars I couldn't believe my eyes," remarks the office bird watcher. "There were two giant flabby-crested purple egrets. The Audubon Society says there haven't been any seen in this vicinity since 1877."

"I lifted a high one from the third tee," says the golf bug. "It looked a bit wide, but when it landed it beamed a squirrel, bounced to the left and rolled into the cup for a hole in one. I'm having the squirrel stuffed to prove it."

"I was stuck in a 15-mile highway tie-up for seven hours," says the senior aleman. "Four women gave birth before they could get to a hospital. My wife and I helped one lady deliver triplets, and she's so grateful she's going to name two of the babies after us."

"She plans to call the third child 'Jammy'—on account of the arrived during this traffic jam."

Machine Spells It Out

By John Chamberlain

"Yes," said the salesman, "I've got something that no communist should be without. It's called the iron register. You feed it little items and the strangest things pop out."

"For example?" I asked. "Well," said the salesman, "we'll ask the register to tell us how democracy fares in the Congo."

The button was pressed, the electronic lights blinked, and the tape coming out at the far side of the register read thus:

"Our export of democratic techniques to foreign lands is succeeding beyond expectations. In the Congo they learn especially fast. The central government at Leopoldville, having proved itself unable to beat Moise Tshombe at the polls, has finally managed to get rid of him by gerrymandering his district. American politicians are amazed at how quickly the Congolese catch on."

"Marvelous," I said. "The machine couldn't have done better if it had been thinking. Now ask it what goes on in British Guiana. I, as a columnist, have to keep up with Red shenanigans in Latin America."

The machine was prodded, and this was what came out:

"In British Guiana the proletariat, mainly Negro, is rising. It is trying to get rid of its Marxist government, headed by Dr. Cheddi Jagan. Jagan, it seems, has been discriminating against the Negroes in favor of the local East Indian immigrants. The Negroes don't like the alliance between Marxism and Hindu supremacy. Jagan denies that he has been taking a correspondence course from Bull Connor."

"Your register has a point," I said. "What next?"

The salesman asked the machine for a report on recent best sellers. As the tape was emerging with the information that the present non-fiction Number One best seller was something called "Sex and the Single Girl", by Christine Keeler, a fuse blew and the lights made a weird display.

"The machine goofed," said the salesman. "But it's my fault. I should have specified as between U.S. and British best sellers."

"Sex is always a dangerous topic," I said. "Get the machine back on the subject of foreign affairs."

"Well, we'll try to find out what's troubling Khrushchev as the big meeting in Moscow between the Chinese and Russian Communists goes on," said the salesman.

The machine whirled and reported: "Mao Tse-tung, the strategist of Peiping, boasts that he has Khrushchev in a giant pincers. It consists of Red China on the East and Albania and Rumania on the West. This means that if open hostilities ever break out in the Communist world, Soviet Russia will be forced to fight on two fronts."

"I'm sure Khrushchev is losing sleep over that," I said. "What has your machine got to say about the UN?"

The salesman poked a question at it. "The UN," so the tape reported, "has just received a request that economic sanctions be invoked against South Africa for its policies of apartheid, or segregation. When the British delegate objected that this would work an undue hardship on Great Britain, which imports large amounts of raw materials from South Africa, it was suggested that British business men might shift their purchases to Australia, which has no race problem simply because it excludes any immigrant from permanent residence who isn't white."

"Your machine isn't very tactful," I said. "But show me what it can do about a domestic situation."

"Governor Romney, prophet of the compact car, is sitting pretty in Michigan," the machine reported. "The rising demand for expensive old-fashioned commodious automobiles has resulted in huge employment at the General Motors, Chrysler and Ford factories. Detroit is prosperous as never before, and Romney, as the incumbent governor, can claim credit for it. The grapevine in the capital at Lansing says he's stopped talking about compacts. He may even buy a Cadillac."

"I'll buy your machine," I said to the salesman. "It will keep me in topics every day."

Surging Ahead

Some economists are tentatively revising prediction of what's ahead on their front. They have been loath to make more than extremely guarded comment on the prospects for next year—for one reason, because it will be a "presidential election" year.

But they are now beginning to predict that next year's business volume—which means employment and prosperity generally—will eclipse that of this year, and some of the more bold say the increase will be substantial. They regard the current base as so well anchored that political vicissitudes cannot affect it.

There are news items to buttress their position. Automobile dealers, with sales containing to set records, approach the new model year with no car surplus. The most optimistic predictions of industry officials as to next year's production and sales may be borne out.

Steel mills are operating at more than 75 per cent of capacity and building construction is holding up well. There is nothing on the horizon to indicate a slow-up in business, and many indices to herald prosperous times in the offing.

Millions on Vacation

Millions of people are about to go on vacation trips. There is a strenuous day when it is necessary to decide how the most vital things in four closets can be crammed into one suitcase. The trippers go over their lists again and again to be sure nothing is missing, and usually before they get 20 miles from home they remember something important left behind.

Arrangements are made to have the cat and dog fed. The householder tries doors and windows four or five times to see if they are locked.

Some folk don't know how to enjoy a vacation. If the motel is unpleasant, if the ham was tough and eggs too hard, they growl at poor service.

It takes a philosophic outlook to be a good vacationist. Men who are perturbed because the wife wants to see the shop windows when they long for the brooks need a lesson in adjustment. Those who fret because two rainy days keep them in a hotel, need to discover the pleasure of human contacts.

With the right philosophy, a vacation should bring you home with a keen desire to dig into your job, a feeling that home is the best place on earth, and a memory of scenes that will cheer you on many dark days.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—The biggest stock market of them all has taken its full share of lumps in the last year but today finds at least one reason to crow. The National Security Traders association says leading stocks on the over-the-counter market have been recovering recently at a faster rate than the popular averages of stocks listed on the exchanges.

It was the OTC market that saw some of the most spectacular rises in the speculative stock sphere of 1961—and some of the most disastrous (and sometime scandalous) dips in the first half of 1962. The greatest climbs and dizziest drops often came in fledgling issues, the kind that aren't listed on the nation's stock exchanges but are tried out over the counter.

It was the OTC that drew much fire of the Securities & Exchange

Commission when it asked Congress last month for new powers over stock trading, the persons who sell them, the companies involved and especially the new issues.

And in the last half of 1962, when the stock exchanges were the lows reached in June 1962, trading over the counter lagged, and so did prices of its stocks on average.

Trading is still slow over the counter, compared with the pick-up on the exchanges, where volume is sizably larger than a year ago.

While the OTC market is too large for full records of trading volume, some leading firms estimate sales to be about 20 per cent below last year.

But the National Quotation Bureau, which reports on stocks actively traded over the counter, counter, says its industrial stock

Steel Booking Low Said Past

No Big Demand Seen Until in October

CLEVELAND (AP) — With the Fourth of July holiday behind them, steelmakers are fairly certain they've passed the year's low point on bookings, Steel Magazine reported today.

Producers expect a modest pickup in orders this week "but no appreciable improvement in demand for their products before October," the metalworking weekly said. Plant vacations and inventory cutbacks are expected to keep demand at a low level through September.

The trade publication predicted that the "market shakedown that started with the steel labor settlement won't end until users have cut their inventories to Jan. 1 levels.

"Mills that in April were booking orders at 150 per cent of shipping capacity now report sales rates 50 per cent below capacity. Order backlogs are 25 per cent lower than a month ago, and 30 per cent smaller than they were at the April peak.

"This month's shipments will probably be 15 to 20 per cent less than last month's. August shipments may be 10 per cent below July's."

Steel estimated ingot production this week would be near 70 per cent of capacity, with output less than the estimated 2,160,000 tons of steel produced last week. This would be the seventh straight weekly decline in production.

Steel's composite price on No. 1 heavy melting scrap steel held unchanged last week at $24.83.

STAR GRANGE

Star Grange met in regular session Tuesday evening in the Monroe School auditorium with Worthy Master Carroll Reid presiding over the business session.

The secretary, Helen Schleich, read a letter of appreciation from Korea for a CARE package. Also a card of appreciation from Mrs. Stella Schwartz and the Lindsey family were read.

A contribution was made to the State Hospital, Columbus, for the inmates to attend the State Fair and also a contribution was made to the Community Fund. Miss Linda Reid was chosen to represent Star Grange as princess and Pat Dawson as prince at the county-wide picnic at Tar Hollow on July 14.

Harold Furniss, lecturer, introduced Mrs. Opal Overly as chairman of the program committee. She opened the program with group singing of "Howdy Song." Mrs. Francis Furniss, chaplain, gave the thought for the day followed by several songs by the group. Melanie Dudson played a piano solo and Mrs. Ernestine Dudson read "A Recipe for Happiness." Patricia Schleich played a piano solo and the group played a guessing contest with Helen Schleich getting the most correct answers. The program closed with group singing "Goodnight Grangers."

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Gale McKinley and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McKinley.

Man Held in Stabbing Of Ex-Wife's Husband

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP) — Lester E. Finley, 45, was in jail today in connection with the fatal stabbing of his ex-wife's husband in a brawl at the Airport Inn on U.S. 50 north of here.

The Ashland County sheriff said Finley admitted stabbing Jess Raubenolt, 47, in the chest and stomach following an argument Saturday night. Raubenolt died shortly afterwards.

Business Outlook Is Good for Last Half '63

NEW YORK (AP) — Business has headed into the second half of 1963 with the outlook favorable and with only a few dark spots showing.

It was a time when business men put their heads together to look back at the first half and into the future.

The first six months were notable for a remarkable gain by the stock market and booming production in the steel and automobile industries.

What the second half holds for the stock market is anybody's guess but many Wall Streeters expect it to reach new all-time highs. The outlook for steel isn't so good. The automobile industry anticipates continued high output and sales.

A panel of experts assembled by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce predicted a moderate climb in economic activity during the second half.

They foresaw an increase in the gross national product—total of all goods and services — not quite matching that of the first half. They also envisioned a rise in capital spending by business and an increase in government spending.

But, in their view, the problems of high unemployment and the deficit in the international balance of payments will remain. Steel production declined again last week and another sharp drop was inevitable this week. Output last week fell 4.7 per cent to 2,313,000 tons from the previous week.

Buyers were holding down orders because, with the new labor contract, there was no further need to build inventories.

The Fourth of July holiday cut into automobile production with output estimated at 124,600 cars, compared with 168,713 last week and 112,327 a year ago.

Production schedules for July call for assembly of about 625,000 passenger cars, which would be the highest for the month since 1955. June output of 689,519 cars was the highest for that month in history.

Spending on new construction rose in June to an annual rate of $63.74 billion, about $350 million above the original estimate. The June increase of 6 per cent over

May was more than seasonal. Sales on the New York Stock Exchange this week totaled 13,859,231 compared with sales of 19,901,170 a week ago. Bond sales also dipped totaling $16,837,000 par value. Sales a week ago were $24,210,000.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Truly free collective bargaining between a union and management is an American myth. The railroad workers will find it out if they try to strike Thursday.

Even in an industry not greatly affecting the general welfare, union-management dealings aren't quite free. They are covered by various government regulations, including the Taft-Hartley Act of 1947.

But when a vital industry shutdown threatens to be a national emergency—as a rail strike would be—no president would sit back and let it happen. Labor and management have agreed he shouldn't.

In May 1962, President Kennedy's labor-management advisory committee recommended broad revisions of the Taft-Hartley law for handling emergency situations, including power to propose settlement terms.

He doesn't have that power now.

If either side then refused his proposed settlement, the committee said, he should refer the matter to Congress with suggestion for appropriate action. This was not a government-packed committee.

It was composed of representatives of labor, business, the public and government. They agreed collective bargaining must be free but also that it must be responsive to the public interest.

This meant the committee was saying—in view of what it suggested—that if a union or management isn't responsive to the general welfare it must be made responsive.

This committee was talking only about industries and union covered by the Taft-Hartley Act, not about railroad and railway unions which come under a different law, the Railway Labor Act.

But the principle—the need for responsiveness to the general welfare—is the same, for its boils down to one thing: the government must not sit helplessly while a strike jeopardizes the nation.

So far Kennedy hasn't followed up his committee's suggestion with proposal of his own to Congress. But so far he hasn't faced a situation, under the Taft-Hartley law, which would require him to seek that new power.

It's different with the threatened railway strike. All the procedures possible under the Railway Labor Act for settling a dispute have been exhausted in an argument going back over four years.

The railroads argue that, because of the improvements in engines, they have far too many ing them on, the railroad say, is strictly "featherbedding."

A 15-man commission appointed by President Eisenhower upheld the railroads, suggested that 13,000 men be dropped at once, the other 27,000 gradually. The Supreme Court upheld the railroad's right to cut down on jobs.

Still no union agreement. Kennedy named an emergency board which modified the previous recommendation, suggesting all 40,000 jobs be eliminated gradually. The unions still wouldn't yield.

The railroads were determined to go through with the lay-offs. The strike was to begin Thursday. Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz last week made another proposal to avert the shutdown.

He suggested, in effect, that both sides agree to compulsory arbitration although by an arrangement which would delay a final solution by two years. Sunday the unions rejected this.

Compulsory arbitration, they said, would be a "dangerous step toward totalitarianism." But Kennedy had warned both sides he would make recommendations to Congress if there was no settlement by Thursday, July 10.

That's what he's expected to do now. He could ask Congress for special legislation compelling both sides to submit to compulsory arbitration, or giving the government the right to seize the roads, or a combination of both.

When there was a railroad strike in 1946 — before the war had been officially ended—President Truman asked Congress for a law allowing him to draft railroad workers into the Army. The unions called off the strike at once.

In 1952 Truman, exasperated by union-management failure to agree in the steel industry, seized it to prevent a crippling strike. But the Supreme Court ruled he had no authority to do that.

The court said only Congress, not the president, has the power to seize property to avert a shutdown. The government seized the coal industry several times but under wartime powers.

Miss Maxson, Dr. Speakman Are United in Marriage

MRS. WILLIAM SPEAKMAN

Miss Janet Maurene Maxson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Maxson, Route 1, Kingston, became the bride of Dr. William Speakman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Speakman, Route 2, Ashville, 3:30 p. m. June 30 in the First Methodist Church, Circleville.

The Rev. Paul I. Wachs performed the ceremony before an altar decorated with white gladioli and seven branch candelabra with white tapers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza and Chantilly lace fashioned with a scoop neckline enhanced with iridescents. The silk organza full skirt, with a Chantilly lace insert, extended into a full chapel train. A princess crown of pearls with crystal teardrops held her veil of imported silk illusion and she carried a crescent bouquet of lily of the valley centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Donald Poling, sister of the bride was matron of honor. Another sister, Miss Karen Maxson, served as junior bridesmaid. Bridesmaids were Miss Joan Dawson of Sunbury and Miss Christi Bernard, Columbus. Miss Deirdre Poling served as flower girl for her aunt. Each attendant wore a floor length gown in contrasting colors of pink, yellow, blue and orchid. The gowns were fashioned of nylon organza with scoop necklines and elbow length sleeves. Matching picture hats completed their ensembles and each carried a bouquet of asters in a deeper shade than her gown.

Mr. Donald Poling, brother-in-law of the bride, served as best man. Ushers were Mr. Harry Mack Ross, Laurelville and Mr. Harley Evans, New Holland.

A reception was held at the church. The five-tiered cake, encircled with white carnations and candelabra with pink tapers, was topped with a miniature bride and groom, white calla lilies and wedding bells.

The bride, a graduate of Capital University, is associated with The Ohio Fuel Gas Company Columbus.

Dr. Speakman is a graduate of Ohio State University and is engaged in the practice of optometry in Circleville.

Following a wedding trip to Miami Beach the couple will reside in Circleville.

Out-of-city guests were from, Tampa, Fla., Cleveland, Sunbury, Columbus, Delaware, Washington C. H., Chillicothe, Mt. Vernon, New Holland, Hallsville, Laurelville and Kingston.

The group is sending Janet Marion and Diane Schaal to Girl's School at Delaware for a week. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Donald Alcorn and Mrs. Robert Farmer.

Pretty Kitchen Is Family's Social Center

By ELEANOR ROSS
Time was when the kitchen — warm, spacious, cheery, inviting — was the heart of the home. Then, gradually, the kitchen became something of a workshop, with an all-white gleaming "lab" look.

But now — praise be — the kitchen is back again in its major role as the place where family and friends gather for that welcome cup of coffee and a snack.

Entertaining friends in the kitchen is the modern way of doing things — or we like to think it is modern. More often than not, when you are entertaining relatives and friends, the party just naturally gravitates to the kitchen, making it the social center of your home.

So there is one more reason why the kitchen design and decoration should be as up-to-date and as good as you can manage.

An old-fashioned and out-dated kitchen is out. The room should be planned to make every square foot count and be convenient, comfortable and attractive.

The most logical person to help you in the complete planning and designing of your kitchen is the plumbing contractor, for he is a kitchen planning expert.

It is amazing what he can do, not only to make things easy and convenient for the primary work of the kitchen but also to make it comfortable and spacious.

By the same token, the modern appliances he suggests aren't just to run up a big bill. These appliances are designed to do real jobs.

By having an automatic dishwasher included in your plans, you are able to enjoy entertaining in the home without having to face a stack of dirty dishes when your guests leave. Also, with a modern food waste dispenser, you'll be freed from the inconvenience of carrying out bags of garbage in the old-fashioned way.

Your kitchen entertaining can take place in smart decorative glamour, too. To highlight your decorating scheme, you can choose a kitchen sink in handsome stainless steel or in attractive pastel colors such as pink, green, gray, yellow, suntan and ivory.

Doing a kitchen decorating scheme is fun and it is a joy to see the kitchen come alive and sing with color and downright charm without lessening its original or functional purpose.

If you like sweet baking powder biscuits, add a couple of tablespoons of sugar to a two-cup flour recipe. The sugar may be sifted along with the flour, baking powder and salt. The French usually serve sweetened biscuits and sometimes enrich their dough with an egg.

Allow plenty of time when you are boiling wild rice — it takes at least twice as long to cook as the regular variety.

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren She's Colorful, But Ill!

DEAR ABBY: I've heard that some women behave rather peculiarly when they reach the age of 48 or 50, but I think my sister-in-law is abusing the privilege. She wears muu muu's on the street with large colored kerchiefs tied around her head like a fortune teller. She loads on the make-up and junk jewelry and she's off in anklets and high-heeled shoes. She thinks she's gorgeous. She spent $12 last week just riding the buses so she could talk to the driver. Meanwhile, she ate tranquilizers like popcorn. I'm worried.

DEAR OHIO: Your sister-in-law is obviously in need of professional help, which is your brothers' problem. Don't wait until the police give the poor woman a free ride home before you urge her husband to get her to a doctor.

DEAR ABBY: I am 20 and have been married for five months. My husband and I both work. We leave together in the morning and drive home together. When Joe gets home he lies down on the couch and reads the whole newspaper while I prepare supper. After supper he goes back on the couch and watches television while I clean up the kitchen. When that's done, I'm so tired I go into the bedroom, fall on my face and go to sleep. Then he has the NERVE to say that what little time we have together I spend sleeping. What should I do?

DEAR TIRED: No bride of five months holds down a full-time job in addition to doing her own housework because she wants the exercise. Since you are helping to buy the groceries, tell Joe to get off the couch and help you prepare them. That way you'll have your work and double his pleasure.

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor of mine dumbfounded me this morning when she told me she had picked up her vegetables while I was on vacation so my plants wouldn't die. She expected some gratitude if I can judge a voice. Abby, I couldn't thank her, because I had agreed with a friend to pick those vegetables in exchange for watering my plants! Before going on a trip next time, should I set up a sign, or canvass the neighborhood and explain the arrangement?

DEAR VACATIONER: It appears that only ONE of your neighbors needs to have the "arrangement explained". So next time, explain it.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Dry, cool weather prevailed over Ohio at sunrise today. The dry weather is expected to continue today and Tuesday with prospects favorable for the dry spell lasting the better part of the week.

Over the weekend, there were some scattered light showers over extreme Southern Ohio and a few scattered showers in the northeast corner Sunday afternoon.

Temperatures dropped below normal Sunday night. Toledo had 52, Youngstown 54, Columbus 55 and Cleveland and Cincinnati 61.

The morning weather map shows a large high pressure area reaching from Hudson Bay across the Great Lakes into Ohio. The large high is expected to control Ohio's weather, holding temperatures below normal while the dry spell continues.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS
NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average five to eight degrees below normal. Normal high 83-85, normal low 61-65. Cool Tuesday, a slow warming trend during week. No rainfall expected until end of week, and then light showers are possible.

SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO — Temperatures will average two to five degrees below normal west and five to eight degrees below normal east. Normal high 84-88, normal low 61-66. Cool Tuesday, warming trend about end of week. Rainfall will average less than one-tenth of an inch except about one-fourth inch in the southwest occurring as showers near end of week.

READY FOR ALL-STAR GAME—The starting lineups, exclusive of pitchers, for the All-Star Game in Cleveland Tuesday,

July 9, are featured here. The starters were selected by a vote of players, managers and coaches. (Central Press)

Wynn Fails Again To Win His 300th

CLEVELAND (AP)—It was the ninth inning. The Cleveland Indians were rallying from a two-run deficit and the drama was a classic. In the dugout, a 43-year-old pitcher—Early Wynn—had a great chance to win his 300th victory.

It didn't come off, however, and the New York Yankees defeated the Indians 7-4 in the 10th inning Sunday on Yogi Berra's clutch double. But the Tribe won the opener 11-3 on a 14-hit attack, including home runs off the bats of Max Alvis, Al Luplow and Joe Azcue plus Jack Kralick's sharp pitching for his ninth triumph. Kralick got three hits, including a two-run double.

But to the crowd of 37,220, the ninth inning of the nightcap was an unforgettable moment. The Yanks were leading 4-2 when Manager Birdie Tebbetts summoned Wynn from the bullpen. He had failed six times to gain the cherished No. 300 in starting roles.

Wynn set the New Yorkers down on two hits in his two-inning stint.

The 10th inning was a letdown. Ted Abernathy came in to pitch, but he wasn't up to it this time. He retired the first two batters.

Then Tom Fresh walked, Joe Pepitone singled and Berra doubled in the lead run. Two more runs crossed as Mike de la Hoz made a throwing error. It was his third of the game and led to four unearned runs for the Yanks.

Hoosier Collects Putting Crown

CLEVELAND (AP)—John Spotts, a freckled-faced college student from Indianapolis, has a $10,000 check to prove he's one of the best putters in the country.

Spotts, 20, swept to victory in the $50,000 National Putting Championship Sunday with a 216-hole score of 346. Spotts fired a final round 25 for 18 holes, 11 under par.

Second was Ralph Sapp of Augusta, Ga., with a 347 total. He got $5,000.

Joe Gehling of Bridgetown, Ohio, with a 216-hole score of 358. Second was Jerry Pruitt of Atlanta, Ga., three shots back at 361. Both received trophies.

Savings Bank Drops Exhibition Tilt

The Savings Bank, Babe Ruth minor league team in the Circleville Youth Baseball program, was defeated by the Chillicothe Elks pony league team, 12-0.

Elks pitcher Johnson hurled a no-hit game, allowing six walks. Massie was the losing hurler.

It was the second exhibition loss for the local team.

Nationals Favored In All-Star Tilt

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The National League, winner of five of the last seven games (excluding a tie), ruled a 6-5 choice today to defeat the American League in Tuesday's 34th All-Star game at Municipal Stadium.

A crowd of about 50,000 is expected, largest since 55,105 in Los Angeles watched the Americans defeat the Nationals 5-3 in the second of two games in 1959. The game is scheduled to begin at noon (EST) and will be carried by NBC radio and television.

The game will mark the return to one All-Star game after four years of doubles. Despite its recent defeats, the American League holds a 17-15-1 edge in the series dating back to 1933.

This will be the first game at Cleveland since 1954, when the Americans won, 11-9, on a bases-filled bloop single by Nellie Fox. The veteran infielder will be the American League's starting second baseman again Tuesday.

Managers Alvin Dark and Ralph Houk, who will be mater-minding the rival forces, will not announce their batting orders and starting line-ups until 24 hours before game time.

However, it was expected that Dark, mindful of the four left-handed hitters in the American League's starting line-up, would name Jim O'Toole, Cincinnati's 13-game winning southpaw.

Houk, also playing the percentages, will select a right-hander to oppose the predominantly right-handed hitting National League squad. The Yankee skipper originally had leaned to Jim Bunning, Detroit's right-handed ace who has pitched brilliantly in previous All-Star games.

Bunning, however, pitched nine innings Sunday and Houk has hinted he may go with Boston's Bill Monbouquette. Monbouquette lost in relief Sunday, but pitched only four innings and Houk said "it wasn't enough to trouble him."

Five of the American League's seven All-Star pitchers worked Sunday and only Jim (Mudcat) Grant of Cleveland is fully rested.

While both are determined to win, the rival managers approach this game with different attitudes. If they stick to their original intentions, Dark will keep his starters in the game as long as possible while Houk will make wholesale substitutions as soon as it is legally permissible.

The Nationals boast a glittering outfield comprised of Tommy Davis, the league's leading hitter, Hank Aaron, the No. 1 man in homers and runs batted in, and Willie Mays, perhaps baseball's best all around performer.

Ed Bailey, San Francisco's left-handed hitting catcher and an all-St. Louis infielder of Bill White, Julian Javier, Dick Groat and Ken Boyer, complete the starting line-up. Javier replaces Pittsburgh's Bill Mazeroski, who had to withdraw because of an injured leg.

Also on the NL squad will be

Stan Musial, who will be appearing in his 24th consecutive All-Star game.

The Americans will open with Los Angeles' Leon Wagner, their No. 1 batter, in the outfield, along with teammate Albie Pearson and Detroit's Al Kaline, who is hobbling with an injured leg. Pearson replaces Mickey Mantle, the player's No. 1 choice for centerfield, who has been sidelined with a foot fracture.

Joe Pepitone, another Yankee, opens at first base, with Fox at second, Boston's Frank Malzone at third, Minnesota's Zoilo Versalles at short and the Twins' Earl Battey behind the plate.

Springfield St. Louis Fight for Net Honors

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Host Springfield and St. Louis were set to battle it out in six matches today for the top spot in the second annual National Girls City Team Tennis Tournament.

Going into today's action, Springfield led the standings with a 28-2 mark, followed by St. Louis' 27-3.

Other team standings in the round-robin tourney, which ends Tuesday, were Louisville, 16-14; Philadelphia, 14-16; Minneapolis-St. Paul 3-27, and Cleveland 2-28.

Baseball Game Injury Is Fatal to Boy, 15

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Injuries received in a baseball game July 3 have claimed the life of Timothy Morrison, 15, of Uniontown.

He died Sunday in Aultman Hospital, where doctors were unsuccessful in their attempt to save him in an operation Saturday night.

Morrison was wearing a batter's helmet when he was struck by a pitch in the game. The boy's father, Alexander, said his son was released from the hospital after treatment but returned Thursday afternoon when his condition worsened.

Buddy Kerr, former New York Giant shortstop, manages the Springfield Giants in the Eastern League.

Famed Ring Trainer, Doc Kearns, Dies

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two months ago Jack (Doc) Kearns, one of the most fabulous characters of boxing's golden era in the 1920s, died at a hospital bed. "Toll the mob I'll be back soon. I think I'll beat the count."

Sunday the man who managed Jack Dempsey to the heavyweight championship and who is credited with bringing the first million dollar gate to boxing by making it possible for women to attend fights without any social stigma, died at the age of 80.

"The last words my father spoke were 'We have to get ready and get on the ball and go to Nevada,'" said Jack Kearns Jr., at whose home the old promoter died. He explained his father planned to establish a health center in Nevada and promote boxing there.

"His body just wore out," the younger Kearns said. "In two months confinement to bed he kept arguing with doctors that he had to be up and doing. He had the active mind and sense of humor of a young man."

Funeral services for the fabulous eKearns who, in addition to Dempsey, managed Mickey Walker, Joey Maxim and Archie Moore to world championships, will be held Wednesday afternoon in the Philbrick Chapel in Coral Gables.

Tri-State Tennis Kings Crowned

CINCINNATI (AP)—Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., and Stephanie Defina of Hollywood, Fla., are the new singles champions of the Tri-State Tennis Tournament—Riessen for the second straight time.

Top-seeded Riessen, of North western, hammered out a 6-1, 6-3, 7-5 victory Sunday over unranked Herb Fitzgibbon, Princeton student from Garden City, N. Y.

Then Riessen joined Clark Graebner of Cleveland to win the men's doubles championship, 6-4 6-3, over Jerry Moss, Miami Beach, Fla., and Norm Perry, Fort Eustis, Va.

Miss Defina, seeded third, defeated Peached Bartkowitz, 14, of Hamtramck, Mich., 7-5, 6-4.

Koufax, Spahn Show Brilliance In Victories

Sandy Notches 14th With 8th Shutout; Warren Wins No. 339

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sandy Koufax is a young left-handed pitcher on the threshold of greatness. Warren Spahn is a veteran left-hander who has lived in greatness for many seasons.

These two stars flashed their brilliance Sunday—one taking another step in his first really big year, the other adding another victory to a long string of triumphs.

Koufax fired his second straight shutout and eighth of the season for the Los Angeles Dodgers pitching the National League front-runners to a 4-0 victory over Cincinnati in the opener of their doubleheader. His three-hit performance made him the first 14-game winner in the majors.

The Dodgers followed Koufax' masterful job with a 3-1 decision over the Reds that increased their league lead to three games over the San Francisco Giants, who split with St. Louis.

Spahn produced his gem in a 2-2 game at Houston, recording the 339th victory and 59th shutout of his 19-season career as the Milwaukee Braves downed the Colts 4-0.

The Cards ended a string of eight straight losses by taking the second game at San Francisco 5-0, with 42-year-old Stan Musial supplying the batting fireworks and Bob Gibson the pitching. An error by Ken Boyer enabled the Giants to win the 15-inning opener 4-3.

Also in the NL—the Pittsburgh Pirates battered the New York Mets into their 10th loss in a row, 11-1, and Philadelphia edged the Chicago Cubs 3-2 on a ninth-inning run produced on Ruben Amaro's triple and Cookie Rojas' pinch single.

In the American League—the New York Yankees split at Cleveland, winning 7-4 in 10 innings after being whipped by the Indians 11-3; the Washington Senators extended their longest winning streak in 14 years to seven, beating the Los Angeles Angels 7-3 and 6-4; Detroit trimmed Kansas City 5-1, then lost to the A's 8-7; the Chicago White Sox won at Boston, 4-1 in 12 innings; and Baltimore nipped Minnesota 4-3 in 10 innings.

Koufax continues to rack up impressive figures with his amazing pitching. He's 14-3 with an earned run average of 1.73, has already broken a Dodger season record for shutouts, and has the most in one year in the league since Mort Cooper got 10 for St. Louis in 1942. Sunday's victory was his seventh straight and 12th complete game.

Spahn, 12-4 and driving for his 13th 20-victory season, checked the Colts on five singles and one walk in his fourth shutout of the year. The 42-year-old mater has allowed only one run in his last 37 innings—in a 16 inning, 1-0 loss at San Francisco last Tuesday night.

Musial, who smacked a two-run triple in the opener at San Francisco and collected four hits for the afternoon, broke a scoreless tie in the seventh inning of the second game with his 472nd career homer, following Dick Groat's single.

Jim Hart, Giant third baseman playing his first day in the majors, suffered a fractured left shoulder blade when hit by one of Gibson's pitches in the second game. Marichal drew a reprimand from umpire Al Barlick and an automatic $50 fine when he zipped one near Gibon's head in the next inning. Gibson also clipped Orlando Cepeda with a pitch later in the game.

Michal Herriott of Towson, Md. will captain Dartmouth's 1964 lacrosse team. His brother Jon, class of '59, also played lacrosse.

Arkansas Tough On Atlanta '9

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Atlanta's crumbling Crackers, their International League Southern Division lead cut to two games, head for Richmond today hoping to pick up the marbles after a disastrous invasion of Arkansas.

The Travelers trounced the Crackers twice Sunday, 7-4 and 3-2, to complete a four-game sweep.

In other games Sunday, Indianapolis snapped Syracuse's five-game victory streak 6-0, Columbus jolted Rochester 6-1, Richmond nipped Jacksonville in 10 innings 2-1, and Toronto and Buffalo split a twin-bill, Toronto winning the opener 9-8 and Buffalo the nightcap 4-1.

New York State has a law which prohibits children 14 years of age from attending boxing bouts.

Circleville Youth Baseball League Leaders Are Listed

With the Youth Baseball Program rapidly entering its final stages, here is a rundown on the league standings.

In the Babe Ruth majors, which play four games per round and three rounds, LM Butch capped the second round 3-1, after finishing last in the first round action.

Kiwanis, who won the first round, tied for second with a 2-2 card along with GE and DuPont. Lindsey Bakery, tied for first in the initial action, finished last with a 1-3 slate.

The week of August 12-17 is designated for the championship series with Kiwanis playing Butch. Winner of this action will take on the third round conqueror, all in the best two out of three games.

IN THE Babe Ruth minors, the Savings Bank nine is running off with the title, sporting an 8-0 record. All teams will play 15 games, with the first place team challenging the second place one for the crown. Kochheiser now holds down second spot with a 5-3 slate. VFW is third with a 2-6 record and Third National is last at 1-7.

The Little League majors are now better than half way through the second round of their 3 round action. Coke, who ran away with the first round 4-1, is now in fifth place, with two games to go in this round. Elks holds the initial slot with a 3-0 record with the American Legion and Bingham a close second at 2-1.

In the divided minor league, Wards and the Savings Bank are tied for the top slot in the league with a 4-3 slate and Circleville Oil has their hands on the top in the black league with a 6-1 standing. The winners of the 2 leagues will meet in the best of 2 of 3 games to decide the championship August 5-10.

In the Mosquito League, Circleville Lumber capped the first round, 7-0, with Macs Goodyear a close second at 6-1. The teams will play seven more games, one more round, with the winner playing the Lumber nine for the championship.

3 Ohio Keglers Win Cash in Pro Tourney

CHICAGO (AP)—Three Ohioans are among the top finishers in the $22,800 Chicago Open Professional Bowlers Association Tournament.

Wayne Zahn, Atlanta, Ga., who swept his first eight games Sunday, won the $3,000 top prize with a total of 9318.

The Ohioans, their totals, and cash awards, were: Bill Schaufert, Cincinnati 8665 ($700), Ed Thomas Logan 8516 ($600), and Larry Oakar, Cleveland 8437 ($550).

Arkansas Tough On Atlanta '9'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Atlanta's crumbling Crackers, their International League Southern Division lead cut to two games, head for Richmond today hoping to pick up the marbles after a disastrous invasion of Arkansas.

The Travelers trounced the Crackers twice Sunday, 7-4 and 3-2, to complete a four-game sweep.
In other games Sunday, Indianapolis snapped Syracuse's five-game victory streak 6-0, Columbus jolted Rochester 6-1, Richmond nipped Jacksonville in 10 innings 2-1, and Toronto and Buffalo split a twin-bill, Toronto winning the opener 9-8 and Buffalo the nightcap 4-1.

New York State has a law which prohibits children 14 years of age from attending boxing bouts.

Redlegs Lose Pair; Purkey To See Medic

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Pitcher Bob Purkey has a date in Cincinnati today with the Reds' team doctor for another look at his troublesome shoulder.

Purkey made the date before pitching the first of two games Sunday against Los Angeles — both of them lost to the powerful Dodgers, 4-0 and 3-1.

Sidetrained more than a month at start of the season by the shoulder trouble, the veteran right-hander says his knuckleball isn't effective any more, and it looks like his shoulder hasn't recovered.

However, a few runs by his teammates would have helped Purkey's shoulder look better Sunday, and Manager Fred Hutchinson said so bluntly.

"Our pitching is good, but we haven't hit," he said. "If we start to hit and get some relief pitching, we can win."

The Reds' defensive work is currently tops in the National League, but the team batting is a sorry 241, sixth in the standings. The Reds are now fifth in league standings.

Cincinnati's only run Sunday came in the nightcap's seventh inning when Daryl Spencer singled and catcher Johnny Edwards doubled him home.

The Reds got only five other hits in that contest.

Upper Lansdowne Golf Links Being Readied for '64 Opener

BUILDING A GREEN — Noah Salyers, veteran golf course contractor from Mt. Vernon, is pushing up dirt on the No. 6 green at the Collins' farm. For 38 years a greenskeeper, Salyers works in conjunction with golf course architect Jack Kidwell and has offered many invaluable suggestions to Collins while building the course. Construction is expected to be completed during the latter part of this month. Seeding will start in mid-August.

By STEVE JONES

From a family farm to a family golf course. It may sound like an almost impossible step, but it is one that the Don Collins family of Walnut Twp. is taking.

The idea, conceived by Collins a little more than a year ago, will be a reality next spring when the Upper Lansdowne Golf Links opens. Indications are the quiet, serene Collins farmstead then will be turned into a bustling recreational area.

Don Collins, Ann, his wife, and their three daughters, Connie, Nancy and Patty will have plenty to do.

Collins intends to serve as his own pro and greenskeeper. Operation of the pro shop and snack bar will be handled in a large degree by the remainder of the family.

"WE ARE going to have to sacrifice a great deal of our privacy, but Anne and I have given it much thought and we think it will be worth the sacrifice," Collins said when talking about his move.

"This area needs additional recreational facilities. If I didn't build this golf course, sooner or later somebody else would."

The idea actually began to form in Collins' mind over a year ago during an Ashville Kiwanis picnic at the Collins' farm.

Warren Bastian, a member of the group, mentioned the 86-acre farm would make an ideal golf course. Ashville attorney Dave Kraft and several other members of the club agreed with the comment. And Collins, a member of his high school golf team in Springfield, Mass., started thinking.

His first move was to call on Beacon Lights' Jack Kidwell, Columbus for advice. Kidwell, a golf course architect, investigated the possibility of a public links at the farm, located equi-distance from Ashville and Circleville and within easy access of Routes 23 and 188.

The Ashville and Circleville communities, both growing residential areas, are just five miles distance. Columbus is a drive of 30 to 45 leisurely minutes. Lancaster is also within easy driving distance. From that standpoint, the location was very desirable.

AN AMPLE supply of water for irrigation was available in the form of a well. The rolling fields on the 86 - acre farm tract made a nearly natural site for a course. And the Collins family was very enthusiastic about the project.

Kidwell was more than willing to give his okay to the course with all these necessary ingredients at hand.

Next came the designing, and here the talented Beacon Lights pro extended himself with an eye to the future and to the serious golfer.

The greens are all large. The course, which should prove neither "too difficult nor too easy" will, nonetheless, be very interesting.

The shortest hole is the 190-yard par three, No. 8 while the longest is the 540-yard, par five, No. 1.

In the center of the course is a three-acre lake. Water hazards will effect five of the fairways. Sand traps will be added in the future as needed, according to Collins.

ONE UNIQUE feature of the links is the "short course" built into it by Kidwell Collins pointed out that No. 1 and No. 7 tees are at the same location.

"If a golfer gets here late in the evening or if it looks like it may storm before he could play the entire nine holes, he can go out on seven, a 400 yard, par four, hole, shoot the par three eight hole and come right back in on the long No. 9," Collins said. "Or he will be able to go out No. 1 and

GOLF FAMILY — Mr. and Mrs. Don Collins and their three daughters, a Walnut Twp. farm family, hope to be a golf family by this time next year. come right back nine. The tee for nine is very close to the No. 2 tee."

The course will be strictly for golf, although there will be other recreational facilities available to the families of member. Collins stressed the point that it is not a social club.

The lakes will be stocked with fish, and controlled fishing will be permitted. Tennis courts are also part of the future plans and a picnic area has been designed into the course for use by members.

The spacious basement of the Collins home is being remodeled to serve as a combination pro shop and lounge area. A snack bar will be installed.

The course will be semi private. A limited membership will be sold.

"WE HAVE to limit membership in order to accommodate the other traffic, Collins said. The course will be open to the public and if the membership became too heavy we couldn't provide ample facilities for the public.

"Right now we plan to limit family memberships to 100 and personal memberships to 50."

The course will be available to local High Schools having golf teams.

During the first year of the operation Kidwell will serve as a parttime pro, coming down during week days to conduct lessons. Collins also will aid in the instruction.

The 300-plus yard driving range will accommodate 10 golfers as an aid in teaching.

Collins is currently doing much of the work at the course himself. He plans to do his own seeding beginning about the middle of August.

NOAH SALYERS of Mt. Vernon, is the course contractor, while Wolf and West Construction, Circleville, excavated the large lake in the center of the course.

Collins, a native of Massachusetts, has been playing golf since his high school days.

Convicted Broker Is Said Missing

CLEVELAND (AP)—A search continued today for Mervin L. Gold, twice-convicted investment promoter who is reported missing by his wife.

A statewide alert is out for the 32-year-old financier, who failed and told his wife he would return in an hour.

FBI agents joined the search Saturday night at the request of U.S. Atty. Merle M. McCurdy.

McCurdy said he will ask the FBI to conduct a nationwide search on the basis of a fugitive warrant if Gold does not turn up by Tuesday.

If Gold cannot be found "in places he ordinarily would be," McCurdy said, "I will assume he has left the Judicial District (of Northern Ohio)."

"Nothing would surprise me where Mervin is concerned," McCurdy said. "We cannot rule out violence or foul play. Living the kind of life he did and the people involved, anything could happen."

Gold was convicted in Federal Court twice this year. He also is under federal indictment on fraud charges. He was arraigned last Wednesday on a charge that he and seven other men obtained a $150,000 loan from the U. S. Small Business Administration by fraudulent means. He is free on bond and is appealing two previous convictions.

Gold fled his home and went to Israel with his wife and children in August 1961. He returned to Cleveland in October 1962, and later was convicted and sentenced to eight years in prison and fined $20,000.

Taft Leaves Door Open to Senate Race

CLEVELAND (AP)—Rep. Robert Taft Jr. of Ohio says he is kept too busy to consider running for the Senate seat now held by Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young.

But Taft, in his first term as a congressman - at - large, did not lock the door on the possibility. He said Sunday, "I shall have to postpone any decision until after this session."

Taft, who has been mentioned as a potential senatorial candidate if a Republican primary contest develops in May, made the remarks on KYW-TV's "Open Circuit."

Asked about reports that Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. might step out of the space program next year and enter politics Taft replied:

"If John Glenn decides to run for the Senate, maybe Steven Young will become an astronaut."

The 74-year-old Young has not indicated whether he will seek another six-year term.

Taft declined to name a favorite for the GOP presidential nomination but listed Govs. Nelson Rockefeller of New York and William Scranton of Pennsylvania and Sens. Barry Goldwater R-Ariz., and Thurston Morton, R-Ky., as possibilities.

Two To Sing In Youth Choir

Two Darby Twp. High School girls will participate in an all-youth mixed choir at the Ohio State Fair next month at the State Fairgrounds.

The local choir members are Miss Cindy Vincent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vincent, Rout 1, Orient, and Miss Sharon McPherson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy McPherson, Derby.

The choir, under the direction of Glenville D. Thomas, director of vocal music at Zanesville High School, is billed as the world's largest all-youth, four part choir.

Stead died, along with Kaye Bookman, 16, and Thomas Anderson, 26, both of Chardon, and Raymond Laing, 18, of Painesville Township.

Robusky said the car went out of control while speeding down Hosmer Hill as Stead tried to pass another car. The death car whipped off the road and slammed into the foot-thick wall.

Anderson had hitched a ride, intending to visit his parents in Painesville, investigators said.

Here's Quick Look at Ohio Economy at Mid-Year Point

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A good many facts and figures remain to be collected and studied by those who ponder such things, but here's a quick look at Ohio's economy at mid-year:

Retail sales, at least for the first five months of 1963, are about 3 per cent higher on the average than a year ago.

Nearly 164,000 persons — out of Ohio's civilian labor force of almost 3.9 million—were jobless in May. June graduates are expected to raise the total.

There are a lot of actions in bankruptcy — Cincinnati had a record 289 in May — but court official claim this is part of a long-term trend. People are finding out, they say, that courts can help with arrangements for paying off creditors under the bankruptcy laws.

Ohio's production workers were earning about 6 cents more an hour on the average in May than a year ago, and getting a little more overtime.

Getting defense contracts continued to be a problem.

Ohio State University's Bureau of Business Research, which compiled the data on January-May retail sales, says there are "about an equal number of pluses and minuses."

Automotive dealers led the "plus" group with an average 14 per cent increase over a year ago, the bureau says, while heating-plumbing equipment dealers and apparel stores declined as much as 9 per cent.

The 164,000 total unemployed in May is about 20,000 less than a year earlier, research director William Papier of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation says. In June, there was an average of 8,893 new claims each week, compared with a 13,727 average in June 1962.

Papier notes that "growth of employment is Ohio in recent years is attributable predominantly to non-manufacturing, rather than factory employment."

What gain there has been in manufacturing employment during the past year—slightly over 9,000—is in the durable goods heavy industries (steel, automotive, machine tools) employing men primarily, Papier says, but service industries (non-manufacturing) gained twice as many.

The Department of Development reorganized by this year's legislature is undertaking a number of studies and plans for attracting and expanding industry and bringing more defense work to Ohio. A court test of the expansion-financing arrangements is expected soon.

Many Ohio officials still are smarting from a remark last year by Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara that his department seeks "the best brains and we go where they are — generally they are not in the Midwest."

3 Youngsters Saved, Fourth Lost in Lake

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP)—Four men on an outboard motor boat, attracted by cries for help from shore, saw three children in trouble in choppy lake Erie off Catawba Island Sunday.

Walter Seifert, assistant professor of journalism at Ohio State University, headed his boat toward the children, who were in a deep channel near Gem Beach.

The three other men on the craft leaped into the water and rescued Richard Steck, 10, Julie Braun, 10, and Alice Czaplinski, 11, all of Dayton. They put them on board and took them to shore.

The Coast Guard said the men learned when they reached the beach that the swimming party included a fourth youngster, Roberta Steck, 12, sister of Richard. She drowned.

The rescuers—Wayne Current, general manager of the Lima Citizen, his son, Mike, 18, and a friend, Tom Barrington, 18, all of Lima—were quoted as saying they did not see Roberta.

Shortly after arriving on the island for an overnight stay with their parents, the children went swimming. Caught in swift currents, they were dragged an eighth of a mile from the swimming area into the channel, the Coast Guard said.

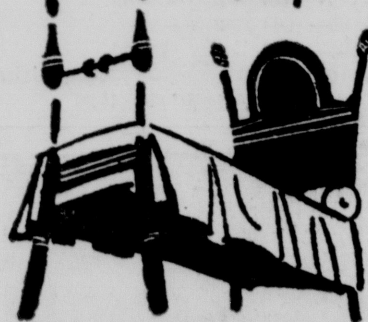

Firemen Summoned To Western Ave.

A truck loaded with steel suffered only minor damage when it caught fire at 8:40 p. m. yesterday on N. Western Ave.

Circleville Firemen were called. They said cause of the blaze apparently was due to no cap on the vehicle's gasoline tank. Men were working on the truck at the time.

The vehicle is owned by the Ohio Motor Freight Line of Hamilton.

Farm Hand Admits Slaying At Lancaster

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—Fred-erick William Spears, a young farm hand who has confessed the slaying of Mrs. Virginia Wagner and another killing that might have gone undetected probably will be charged early this week, Fairfield County Sheriff Jack Blazer says.

Spears, 26, is married and the father of one child. He told police Saturday night it was he who strangled Mrs. Wagner, 35-year-old Lancaster mother of three, and dumped her body in an icy creek bed last December.

He also said he was involved in the death last May 23 of Mrs. Francis Eckard, a Lancaster woman whose body was found in a bathtub at her home.

Mrs. Wagner's death touched off one of the most intensive police probes in this area's history. Spears was jailed the day after the crime as a parole violator but was released in a month. On June 13, he was jailed on charges of assaulting a woman at knifepoint.

He remained in jail until the Saturday night confession which authorities said resulted from Spears' consultation with a psychiatrist.

Upper Lansdowne Golf Links Being Readied for '64 Opener

BUILDING A GREEN — Noah Salyers, veteran golf course contractor from Mt. Vernon, is pushing up dirt on the No. 6 green at the Collins' farm. For 38 years a greenskeeper, Salyers works in conjunction with golf course architect Jack Kidwell and has offered many invaluable suggestions to Collins while building the course. Construction is expected to be completed during the latter part of this month. Seeding will start in mid-August.

By STEVE JONES

From a family farm to a family golf course. It may sound like an almost impossible step, but it is one that the Don Collins family of Walnut Twp. is taking.

The idea, conceived by Collins a little more than a year ago, will be a reality next spring when the Upper Lansdowne Golf Links opens. Indications are the quiet, serene Collins farmstead then will be turned into a bustling recreational area.

Don Collins, Ann, his wife, and their three daughters, Connie, Nancy and Patty will have plenty to do.

Collins intends to serve as his own pro and greenskeeper. Operation of the pro shop and snack bar will be handled in a large degree by the remainder of the family.

"WE ARE going to have to sacrifice a great deal of our privacy, but Anne and I have given it much thought and we think it will be worth the sacrifice," Collins said when talking about his move.

"This area needs additional recreational facilities. If I didn't build this golf course, sooner or later somebody else would."

The idea actually began to form in Collins' mind over a year ago during an Ashville Kiwanis picnic at the Collins' farm.

Warren Bastian, a member of the group, mentioned the 86-acre farm would make an ideal golf course. Ashville attorney Dave Kraft and several other members of the club agreed with the comment. And Collins, a member of his high school golf team in Springfield, Mass., started thinking.

His first move was to call on Beacon Lights' Jack Kidwell, Columbus for advice. Kidwell, a golf course architect, investigated the possibility of a public links at the farm, located equi-distance from Ashville and Circleville and within easy access of Routes 23 and 188.

The Ashville and Circleville communities, both growing residential areas, are just five miles distance. Columbus is a drive of 30 to 45 leisurely minutes. Lancaster is also within easy driving distance. From that standpoint, the location was very desirable.

AN AMPLE supply of water for irrigation was available in the form of a well. The rolling fields on the 86-acre farm tract made a nearly natural site for a course. And the Collins family was very enthusiastic about the project.

Kidwell was more than willing to give his okay to the course with all these necessary ingredients at hand.

Next came the designing, and here the talented Beacon Lights pro extended himself with an eye to the future and to the serious golfer.

The greens are all large. The course, which should prove neither "too difficult nor too easy" will, nonetheless, be very interesting.

The shortest hole is the 190-yard par three, No. 8 while the longest is the 540-yard, par five, No. 1.

In the center of the course is a three-acre lake. Water hazards will effect five of the fairways. Sand traps will be added in the future as needed, according to Collins.

ONE UNIQUE feature of the links is the "short course" built into it by Kidwell Collins pointed out that No. 1 and No. 7 tees are at the same location.

"If a golfer gets here late in the evening or if it looks like it may storm before he could play the entire nine holes, he can go out on seven, a 400 yard, par four, hole, shoot the par three eight hole and come right back in on the long No. 9," Collins said. "Or he will be able to go out No. 1 and

GOLF FAMILY — Mr. and Mrs. Don Collins and their three daughters, a Walnut Twp. farm family, hope to be a golf family by this time next year. come right back nine. The tee for nine is very close to the No. 2 tee.

The course will be strictly for golf, although there will be other recreational facilities available to the families of member. Collins stressed the point that it is not a social club.

The lakes will be stocked with fish, and controlled fishing will be permitted. Tennis courts are also part of the future plans and a picnic area has been designed into the course for use by members.

The spacious basement of the Collins home is being remodeled to serve as a combination pro shop and lounge area. A snack bar will be installed.

The course will be semi private. A limited membership will be sold.

"WE HAVE to limit membership in order to accommodate the other traffic, Collins said. The course will be open to the public and if the membership became too heavy we couldn't provide ample facilities for the public.

"Right now we plan to limit family memberships to 100 and personal memberships to 50."

The course will be available to local High Schools having golf teams.

During the first year of the operation Kidwell will serve as a parttime pro, coming down during week days to conduct lessons. Collins also will aid in the instruction.

The 300-plus yard driving range will accommodate 10 golfers as an aid in teaching.

Collins is currently doing much of the work at the course himself. He plans to do his own seeding beginning about the middle of August.

NOAH SALYERS of Mt. Vernon, is the course contractor, while Wolf and West Construction, Circleville, excavated the large lake in the center of the course.

Collins, a native of Massachusetts, has been playing golf since his high school days.

Convicted Broker Is Said Missing

CLEVELAND (AP)—A search continued today for Mervin L. Gold, twice-convicted investment promoter who is reported missing by his wife.

A statewide alert is out for the 32-year-old financier, who failed and told his wife he would return in an hour.

FBI agents joined the search Saturday night at the request of U.S. Atty. Merle M. McCurdy.

McCurdy said he will ask the FBI to conduct a nationwide search on the basis of a fugitive warrant if Gold does not turn up by Tuesday.

If Gold cannot be found "in places he ordinarily would be," McCurdy said. "I will assume he has left the Judicial District (of Northern Ohio)."

"Nothing would surprise me where Mervin is concerned," McCurdy said. "We cannot rule out violence or foul play. Living the kind of life he did and the people involved, anything could happen."

Gold was convicted in Federal Court twice this year. He also is under federal indictment on fraud charges. He was arraigned last Wednesday on a charge that he and seven other men obtained a $150,000 loan from the U. S. Small Business Administration by fraudulent means. He is free on bond and is appealing two previous conviction.

Gold fled his home and went to Israel with his wife and children in August 1961. He returned to Cleveland in October 1962, and later was convicted and sentenced to eight years in prison and fined $20,000.

Taft Leaves Door Open to Senate Race

CLEVELAND (AP)—Rep. Robert Taft Jr. of Ohio says he is kept too busy to consider running for the Senate seat now held by Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young.

But Taft, in his first term as a congressman - at - large, did not close the door on the possibility. He said Sunday, "I shall have to postpone any decision until after this session."

Taft, who has been mentioned as a potential senatorial candidate if a Republican primary contest develops in May, made the remarks on KYW-TV's "Open Circuit."

He graduated from high school in 1937 and attended Montreal Tech. in Montreal, Canada. While there he lived with an aunt and uncle on Upper Lansdowne St., — thus, the name of the course.

He enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force in 1940 and was later transferred to the United States Army Air Force.

While stationed at Lockbourne AFB, he met his wife, the former Anne Reber. They were married in 1943 and following the war, Collins returned to Walnut Twp. where he has been a farmer since.

4 Youths Die In Car Crash Near Chardon

CHARDON, Ohio (AP) — "It was horrible. They were all unconscious and everything was so terribly quiet."

That was the sad scene described Sunday by an eyewitness, Mrs. Lynn Hosford of Chardon, after four young persons were killed when their speeding convertible automobile crashed into a concrete retaining wall on Ohio 44.

Geauga County Sheriff Louis Robusky said the car was traveling at 70 miles an hour when it struck the wall. The driver, Sherwood Stead, 16, was using his father's car on a temporary permit.

Stead died, along with Kaye Bookman, 16, and Thomas Anderson, 26, both of Chardon, and Raymond Laing, 18, of Painesville Township.

Robusky said the car went out of control while speeding down Hosmer Hill as Stead tried to pass another car. The death car whipped off the road and slammed into the foot-thick wall.

Anderson had hitched a ride, intending to visit his parents in Painesville, investigators said.
